

Spirituality – The Second Law of Nature

Mali Ram Soni

Shekhawati Engineering College, Dundlod, Jhunjhunu, Rajasthan, India
Email: maliramsoni.pilani@gmail.com

ABSTRACT

Various scientists, scholars, philosophers and social thinkers had enlightened their knowledge and experiences to understand the meaning and sense of spirituality and highlighted a comprehensive explanation of the meaning and the relation of world and life. It is also studied in various religions and in religious books and literature. They postulated various meanings which are partly different from the knowledge of science which concerns beyond the material world. All discoveries and inventions are the subject matter of the physical world for betterment of the society. It also covers the study of spirituality to escape the topology of this physical world forever to achieve the Ultimate Light state to the self. Life as we know in different creatures in this world is the beauty of the Nature. This is the first law of Nature. Spirituality as a tool to understand world and life with the relation of observer is the beauty of Soul. This is the second law of Nature. In other words we can say that world is beautiful due to life and life is beautiful due to Nature. Similarly spirituality is beautiful due to observer and observer is beautiful due to soul. It is also noted that second law is dependent on first law because spirituality depends on study of physical world as well as physical materials like matter, body, mind, life, intellect, consciousness etc.

Spirituality is the science of soul studied in the course of theory and practice by the second law of Nature which was originated by the theory "The whole world is my family" without any caste or religion. Character in terms of observer performs all activities and events in this physical world who is also bounded by the theory of cause and effect. If the spirituality was not imposed by the Nature then how society would have worked for the betterment of humanity and the character would have attained her ultimate light state. And also without spirituality how was it possible for Nature to depart the character from this physical world. So spirituality is a law for the Nature, theory of the science, tool towards the knowledge of the character and path to achieve the ultimate light state, work for society and the individual in the world and beyond the world

This paper would focus the scientific outlook on spirituality and spiritual science. Nature and soul are the superpowers existing without reason and creator having their own properties and characteristics.

Keywords: Spirituality, Laws of Nature, Physical life, Soul and Character, Spiritual Science

1 INTRODUCTION

Various scientists, scholars, philosophers and social thinkers had enlightened their knowledge and experiences to understand the meaning and sense of spirituality and highlighted a comprehensive explanation of the meaning and the relation between world and life. It is also studied in various religions and in religious books and literature. They postulated various meanings which are partly different from the knowledge of science which concerns beyond the material world. All discoveries and inventions are the subject matter of the physical world for betterment of the society. It also covers the study of spirituality to escape the topology of this physical world forever to achieve the Ultimate Light state to the self. Life as we know in different creatures in this world is the beauty of the Nature. This is the first law of Nature. Spirituality as a tool to understand world and life with the relation of observer is the beauty of Soul. This is the second law of Nature. In other words we can say that world is beautiful due to life and life is beautiful due to Nature. Similarly spirituality is beautiful due to observer and observer is beautiful due to soul.

Universe is the creativity of Nature. So all theories relating to understand the universe is the first law of Nature. Similarly life is also the creativity of Nature. If the universe was not created how the life was existed in the universe? So all theories relating to understand the life is second law of Nature. Spirituality is one of them to understand the meaning and objective of the life, properties and parameters of the life and the inner conscious power in all life forms. Spirituality is the science of soul studied in theory and practice by the observer. Character in terms of observer perform all activities and events in this physical world who is also bounded by the theory of cause and effect. Character has the conscious power to think about the world, life and her attachment with this physical world. Soul is the superpower having no birth, no death, no body, no mind, no brain, no wisdom whereas character is bounded by these worldly elements.

In other words we can say that human beings those are conscious must understand the meaning, purpose, object and motive of life in different terms of life properties and life parameters for the growth and development of intelligent life. Intelligent life is also an ideology of spirituality. So for a spiritual man the whole world is simply a residing place such as home. As we reside in the home so the observer or character resides in the body. In this way the whole world is like a body, as the world is made by physical material so the body. Now we can say that Soul rests in her ultimate light state whereas character rests in the body. After escaping these worldly elements through the path of spirituality character discover the soul state.

Certainly physical science has succeeded to make the theory of 3-D space to understand the Cosmoverse (different universes). It is also true that today the science, with the help of modern space equipments, made efforts to solve various universal mysteries. Obviously the study of formation and evolution of this super structure like GMC, supernovae, Galaxies, Quasars, solar systems, planets are the parts of this creation but what about the element to observe this creation? In this race scientists like Einstein, Henry Poincare, Hubble, Maxwell accepted the creator behind this creation. But by whom and to whom this creation came into existence is the main object to understand this endless problem. It is also subject of the study that the creator must be similar to the properties of this creation. The authority and power of this creation should be the creator itself. It is also understood that there are two independent powers in the universe - The Creator i.e. Nature and The Character i.e. Soul. This is subject matter of this paper to answer "by whom and to whom".

In my previous work, we have studied various terms, terminologies, theories and laws to understand the whole space in terms of different universes. This is called creativity of the Nature. Nature, the creator is the superpower. It means there is no need for the creator to borrow the power from elsewhere. If we say creator has the super power, then it will be wrong. Here question arises how the Nature is superpower? Nature created and constructed the whole space and super structure without taking help from outside. Again we see creatures and different life forms in this creation. It means all creatures and life forms are also creativity of the Nature. In other words we can say that every thing we see in this world is simply Nature made. Certainly this is the First Law of Nature by which every thing is made. The concerned theories of the First Law we have studied in my previous paper as well as my book entitled "Nature and Life Structure in Different Universes". In the earlier work, I mentioned the relationship among creator, creation, creature and character.

Obviously, if every thing is made by Nature then who makes relation with whom? This is the objective of this study which has not been covered in the previous work that was the creation in the physical world. We have studied previously the relation of soul as a character with Nature in terms of different life forms. Certainly soul is the superpower attaining her Ultimate Light State because the character has forgotten her Ultimate Light State in the world due to the relationship with Nature. Nature and soul are the superpowers, that is why these powers are eternal having no reason and no creator everlasting their own properties and characteristics.

2 FINDINGS

There are two branches of Science. First relates to physical world and the second belongs to spiritual research. These two branches are like two sides of a coin. Can you tell me the relation of both the sides with the coin? Yes both sides make the coin completed. It is impossible to make the coin one sided. Similarly both branches (physical and spiritual) are the sides of the Science. It is also impossible to study the Science one sided. It may possible that our concerns are only one sided and we could not know the other side. This is why we all are concerned with physical science in the direction of physical world because our all activities are attached with the physical world.

Why Spiritual Science?

This is a big unsolved problem of the world. Physical Science has no answer of this mystery because it depends on physical material and the answer is beyond the world. We study physical science for the betterment of our life and society. All inventions and discoveries are the result of physical science for the social development. No such machine, equipment, device or instrument has been discovered for the development of spirituality, humanity or morality of man so that the peace and human kingdom can be protected in the world. In the race of scientific discoveries we left out the spiritual science, the second branch which is also the second law of Nature.

Certainly we have forgotten the human, moral and ethical values just to attain economic development. In this race we all are following but we did not think upon for whom we are racing? Simply to earn money for our mortal life, to achieve knowledge for the betterment of our life or to achieve the path of ultimate light state which we have forgotten. What is the ultimate aim of human life? Why do people practice spirituality? Many people see spirituality as a great way of seeking solace and peace in their life. It can often be practiced alongside things like yoga, which ultimately focus on stress relief and release of emotion. Spirituality is also used as a way of gaining perspective, recognizing that our role in life has a greater value than just what we do every day. It can separate a person from dependence on material things and establish a greater purpose.

If the spirituality was not imposed by the Nature then how society would have worked for the betterment of humanity and the character would have attained her ultimate light state. And also without spirituality how was it possible for Nature to depart the character from this physical world. So spirituality is a law for the Nature, theory of the science, tool towards the knowledge of the character and path to achieve the ultimate light state, work for society and the individual in the world and beyond the world.

Nuclear weapons are the violent creators and terrorism is the peace cutter. Why the terrorism was not so powerful hundred years ago? In modern times all Nations need to strengthen the nuclear power in terms of weapons and war explosion. This is because physical science has no command to control the evil which has now spread throughout the whole world. In this age of nuclear revolution, study of spiritual science would be the evolution of man to balance the nuclear global harmful destruction. Within one hundred years man has seen two world wars.

The study would discuss and covers the burning points on various scientific issues like-

Why the world has forgotten the second part of the science?
Whether physical science has the answer to maintain peace and friendship in the world?
Why world need spiritual science?
Why man is challenging Nature? Whereas his body properties are the same as of Nature The character inside the body can not change any thing.

Need of the hour -

There are a number of universities, institutions and schools teaching and studying courses in physical science like physics, astrophysics, astronomy and cosmology in the field of research and development to build machines. But there is no such university, institute or school teaching courses in spiritual science in the field of research and development to build man for humanity and society. Spirituality tells us laws of social science, human behavior to save human being for the whole human kingdom.

In the very ancient times the society was formed by the social laws in terms of spirituality. And the whole society was dominated by the spiritual science. But afterwards society was dominated by the anti social elements so the society was divided into different communities and different religions. Due to the consequences of the false traditions and misconception the society divided into different religions. Now time has come to form the global spiritual society again and spread the knowledge of spirituality to serve the humanity and to maintain the peace in the world. It will prove the theory "The Whole World is My Family". There would be no caste, no religion.

Tools of the Spirituality:

Spirituality is a subject of study for the welfare of the human being for both in terms of individual as well as society. It deems science as that which can be experienced again and again by all across race, sex, religion, nationalities etc. given the same experimental conditions. We call spiritual science a 'science' because spiritual dimension is just as systematic and logical as that of the physical world. The reason for everything that happens in the spiritual or subtle dimension is discernible just as in the physical or gross world. The cause and effect relationship is as true in the subtle dimension as it is in the gross. Spiritual research is basically about understanding these subtle and intangible 'causes'. The principles concerned the spiritual dimensions can be tested again and again with the requisite tools. Just as the research tools are different for physics and biology, so also is the case for spiritual science. The following and many more issues would be studied and discussed scientifically:

- Spirituality verses natural sciences
- Spirituality and Metaphysics
- School of spiritual science
- Course of study
- Study of human being
- Spiritual research
- Scientific outlook of spirituality
- Study of soul and society
- Meaning and objective of life

3 ANALYSIS

Spirituality is the second law of Nature. According to the first law of Nature, Nature created the space and constructed the universe. So universe is a requirement in order to produce worlds to emerge and evolve and fulfillment of parameters for the orderly development of all life forms.

Certainly for the Nature, spirituality is a requirement after construction of worlds for the development of man in order to understand the ultimate objective of the life to attain the Ultimate Light state i.e. Soul. In the First Law we have studied the attachment with the Nature and in Second Law we will study to depart the world. In other words we can say spirituality is a tool work for orderly development of all life forms. Without spirituality growth and development of intelligent life in the world is not possible. So we can say for soul, character is a requirement in order to produce different life forms and fulfillment of life motive in terms of spirituality. It is noted here that spirituality is not man made activity like religion. Religion divides society into different communities which causes differentiation in whole human being whereas spirituality combines society for the sake of humanity. It also proves spirituality without religion because spirituality is the science works for humanity. Religion is a boundary upto the limitations of the specific community whereas spirituality is open path having no boundary to search the Ultimate Light State of the soul. Mystical spirituality is based around a desire to move beyond the material world, beyond the senses, ego and even beyond time.

A spiritual researcher is a man who has developed, as it were, perceptive ability concerning the world. This ability is related to the natural scientific concept in much the same way that the musical ear is related to the concept which only concerns itself with the vibrating processes of space. The spiritual researcher uses faculties through which the spiritual world is manifested just as the symphony manifests itself through the phenomenon of vibrations. The relationship between the spiritual science researcher and the human being who carries on no research himself, but depends on the results of spiritual research of others, is different from the relationship between the natural science researcher and the human being who accepts the results of natural science. The spiritual researcher himself prepares, so to say, only the means which communicate the knowledge of the spiritual world. Because he has developed certain faculties, the spiritual researcher is in the position to form such means by which everyone who is sufficiently unprejudiced to employ this instrument properly, can penetrate into the spiritual world. The only requisite is a correct concept of the nature of this means.

The spiritual researcher constructs a purely psycho-spiritual apparatus. This apparatus consists of certain ideas and combinations of ideas which, when correctly employed, unlock the door to the spiritual world.

The literature of spiritual science has to be conceived differently from other literature. Scientific literature imparts certain results with which we acquaint ourselves. The literature of spiritual science is not of this type. It can become an instrument in the soul of each human being. After thoroughly steeping ourselves in the ideas which are indicated there we have more than a mere dead result about which information has been gained. What we have before us is something uniting human beings, by virtue of their inherent life, with the spiritual world for which we are seeking.

In spiritual research, the main tool required for analysis and measurement is a highly developed subtle perception ability, more popularly known as sixth sense i.e. character.

3 CONCLUSION

The study would focus the scientific outlook on spirituality and spiritual science. There are number of misconceptions between spirituality, spiritual science, metaphysics and religion. I had written various quotations highlighting the importance and senses of these quotations.

There is always a conflict between religion and science. Spirituality is science so it can not be associated with religion. Religion works always for a specific duration of time. During this period communities adopt and follow the concepts, notions, opinions and traditions of the religion. But after completion of the duration all these adaptations automatically changed; whereas spirituality is a theory of science and law of Nature which works permanently in the society for the welfare of human being as well as individual to search the ultimate light state. In this way spirituality is a path for the welfare of the society and good being for the character in searching her state of ultimate light.

Prerequisite for the spirituality is first to understand the physical world. For this purpose we must study the physical science that is the first law of Nature. It is noted that without study of physical world we can not understand the purpose and motive of the spirituality. That is the reason I have written my previous paper on physical world i.e. "Nature and Life Structure in Different Universes" to understand the Nature, Universe and Life.

There are six dimensions to understand the whole space including different universes as well as the observer (Character to Soul) of the universe. The whole space or the physical world is divided into three dimensions (3-D Sphere) which is also called the First Law of Nature because all super structure like galaxies, stars, solar systems, planets etc. have constructed inside this space. This is the first creativity of the Nature Time is the fourth dimension. This is also a part of first law because all events and activities are determined and calculated in the physical world on the basis of time.

As far as spiritual research is concerned about the fourth dimension, it is a subject of all events and activities happened in previous lives ( those were part of previous life) which affect in the present life in terms of positive or negative results. For example, spiritual research can unveil whether people had done spiritual practice in previous lives that has contributed to their success in this life. Spirituality which is beyond mind, matter, intellect, is related to the fifth dimensions.. Spirituality is the link between observable and observer. In this sense, the whole physical world is observable whereas character in terms of soul is the observer. Finally the character is the sixth dimension to understand the path of soul. It is also subject of the character to escape the world and attain her ultimate light state i.e. soul.

This is also stated that there is interlink among spirituality, character and soul. Without knowledge of the spirituality we can not understand the character. And for character, spirituality is a path to attain her ultimate light state i.e. soul. When mind of Yogi constantly rests in his sixth sense, then he experperiences nothing such this physical world. Similarly when soul rests in her state she experiences beyond nothing. In other words when soul rests in her ultimate light state then there would be no body, no mind, no birth, no death and experiences nothing beyond herself.

To understand these terms I would like to mention the following quotation to understand Nature, world and soul.

Once I would have thought, "let me have a glance of the world." I was all alone there. So I left my state and appeared inside, after escaping the rotational wheel of the space. However, I was satisfied in my state. No birth, no death, no need, no requirements, no relations, no body, no mind, no brain, no wisdom. Nothing such attachments were with me there. This was my eagerness just to visit the world. But I saw here the attraction of beautiful world, the beautiful creativity of Mother Nature. I made the relation with Mother Nature. She told me, "My child, I am always with you. If you need anything I will fulfill your requirements."

Now I am in the world with Mother Nature.

This is the first quotation of my previous book. In this statement the observer states her present position in this world after escaping her ultimate light state. It also shows the dual state of the observer. The first state is ultimate light i.e. soul state and the second is in the world with Nature i.e. character state.

Obviously in the world state the observer in terms of character, after escaping her ultimate light state, made relation with Nature and bounded by the events and activities by the theory of cause and effect so it is called character state.

In other words we can define that character is an observer to observe the activities of the physical world making relation with Nature and bounded by the theory of cause and effect. It is due to escape from her original state. Henceforth this observer would perform various activities and events due to the compulsion of Nature's law. In consequence of these limitations the character has to do actions. These actions grow results in terms of birth and death. It is also noted that actions bound the character. Actually these actions are the attachment with the physical world that is why the character has to live, survive and travel in this world. Surely if character, by some means, cutoff all these actions and activities generated by the cause and effect then she can escape the world and attain her ultimate light state. Further it is also noted that observer is the term given to dual state of the entity who is the performer of this duality i.e. soul and character. But in the physical world observer is the term given to character. Infact all actions are being performed by the different modes of Nature but the character due to the attachment of body and mind thinks that I am the performer.

REFERENCES

- Maliram Soni, "Nature and Life Structure in Different Universes" International Journal of Advancements in Research & Technology, Vol.4, Issue 5, May 2015.
- Maliram Soni, "Nature and Life Structure in Different Universes" Book published by LAP Academic Publishing Co. Germany Oct. 2015, ISBN 978365979162.
- Maliram Soni, "Habitability and Life Parameters in our Solar System" International Journal of Advancements in Research & Technology, Vol. 3, Issue 5, May 2014.
- Maliram Soni, "Science of Soul is the Soul of Science" International Journal of Advancements in Research & Technology, Vol. 2, Issue 5, May 2013.